A black and white photograph of a street scene. On the left, a tall, multi-story brick building with several windows runs along the street. A group of people, mostly young men and women, are walking away from the camera down the sidewalk. The street is paved, and there are utility poles and wires visible in the background. The overall tone is historical and candid.

Foreword

As God caressingly eyes the simple building of St. Mary High He sees it is engulfed by two structures, stories higher--St. Mary Church and our elementary grade school building.

Then the 3 P.M. dismissal bell rings and orderly lines file out; God's tender eyes still admiring. Shortly he hears the dribbling of basketballs as our champs practice for another big one. In the rooms the mumbling of debater filters through the keyholes. Staff editors and writers scramble madly through copy in the press room as they try to turn out an All-American Yearbook for '57 with His help.

Within these well-molded walls subjects like science, math, history, English, Spanish, Latin, social science, sports, curricular and civic activities are taught. God is now attracted to the symbols on the walls of himself redeeming the world.

In all of our classes, especially the social sciences, we approach a deeper love of God and increase that innate burning desire for eternal happiness because God, our creator, is an essential factor in our quest for happiness.

As years progress, we will look back on Wesley Street, the street which gave us our future and Faith. For them we Seniors will say, "Our Life On Wesley Street was a success" with His Help.

Southwestern Michigan is blessed with the service of his Excellency Joseph H. Albers, Bishop of Lansing. In his jurisdiction over the approximately 85 parishes of the diocese he is interested not only in their religious welfare but in personal and civic well being.

Forming new parishes and backing the civil authorities in a campaign for safe driving have been among his main interests this year.

He celebrated the 27 anniversary of his consecration as bishop, September 11, 1956.

"Now, children. . ." To us, this is Monsignor Frank J. Hardy. To Him, we the students of St. Mary, are all his children, and we know it. Being a Monsignor does not deter him from disguising himself in khaki pants and sweat shirt, or gray suede jacket and going about the school both summer and winter, to refinish floors, clean walks, order new desks and lights, shovel snow, and rake leaves to make our school not only an institution of learning but one operating on love. In spite of all kinds of activities he never sheds his priestly office symbolized by his red tasseled beretta.

Beginning his sermons to the students with "Now children," he reminds us of First Saturday Communion, prayers for peace, and holy days of obligation, devotion to the Blessed Sacrament and our Blessed Mother. We know that he is determined to get his children into heaven.

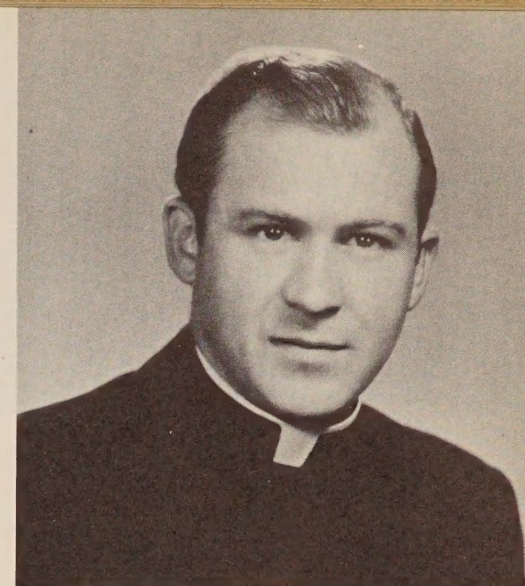

No words can express our gratitude!

Christian Ideals

A friendly "hi", a kind word of advice, a joke, a blessing, a prayer. These characteristics typify the youthful, friendly personality of Father William Hankerd, who has been Monsignor's first assistant for the past four years.

Father Hankerd formerly attended St. John High School and Jackson Junior College. Entering the seminary in 1941 he divided the next 16 years equally between 4 places - Sacred Heart Seminary, Mount Mary of the West, St. Mary Cathedral in Lansing and here at St. Mary.

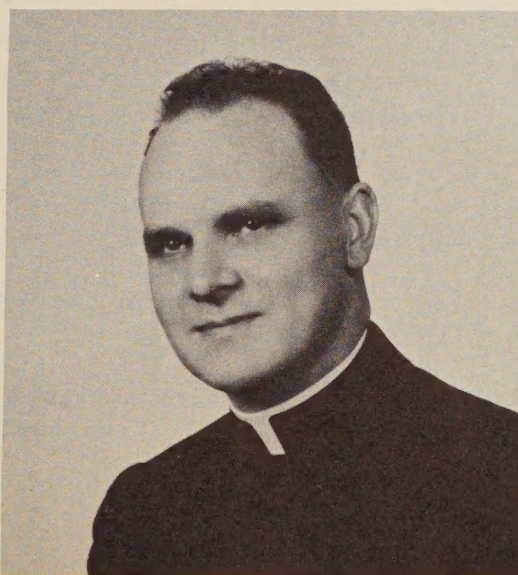

Besides his regular priestly duties, Father Hankerd instructs the twelfth grade Religion classes. Any senior will tell you, "He's the greatest."

Known to all the athletes as a man's man Father James J. Schmitt teaches ninth grade Religion as well as directing athletics.

Father Schmitt has made many needed changes buying new equipment for the football, basketball and baseball teams and a new school bus. To pay for these expenses he inaugurated the Mardi Gras, a social event for the entire parish, which this year offered a five-day trip to New Orleans to the two winners.

Father Schmitt graduated from Lansing St. Mary in 1941. He then attended St. Joseph Seminary in Grand Rapids, St. Gregory in Cincinnati, St. Mary of the West in Norwood, Ohio and St. John's Provincial Seminary at Plymouth, Michigan. After his ordination he was stationed at Kalamazoo St. Augustine three months, and then at Owosso St. Paul's for three years before coming here in 1954.

In his first year of teaching Mr. Fred Gezich has made quite an impression on the students of St. Mary. Before coming here, he was an archaeologist for the Sunoco Company. Besides teaching Physics and General Science, he also assisted in the coaching of the football team.

Who Keeps this school going? Who is the Backbone? The students know who is behind the scenes--The Sisters and lay teachers. Portraits of the Sisters of Charity may not appear in our Yearbook but these pictures could not show their true value. Our Sisters do not just teach. This year our faculty has been revamped in that there are seven new members. They are Principal Sister Rose Helene, Sister Maria John, Sister John Therese, Sister Margaret Aquinas, Sister Marie Jeannette and our lay teachers Mrs. Allen and Mr. Gezich. They can be found at almost any time counseling, advising and helping the students with their personal problems, and this year debating teams, sodalities, and the C.S.M.C. has been instigated.

There is only one way to describe the Sisters of St. Mary and that is, they are the happiest people that we could ever meet. We unload our problems on them. They being human like you and me have their own troubles to shoulder, and yet we always find a big smile on their face whenever we meet them.

That is also true of our lay teachers who sacrifice time from home duties and leisure to the apostolate of teaching.

Indeed the teachers at St. Mary can be called the backbone of the school.

Bewilderment, spirit, and vitality mark the underclassmen of St. Mary High. Underclassmen work hard during their high school years-- from the first day, worrying and wondering which classroom is 110, to the last confident realization of a great future.

Freshmen find that all of a sudden things are expected of them that requires much more responsibility than they expected. From the first day to the last they are constantly being reminded to "cheer louder" and show more "school spirit." This first year is for them a frightening, and almost unconquerable task, and at the time they seem too small to undertake it.

Then as they move up to become Sophomores, things seem to change. The different rules and regulations that were so difficult are now a little easier to abide by. They discover that the upperclassmen go to Matthew's after a game or a dance, and so they go, too.

As they become more and more a part of the Celt Spirit, they find that the "big bad" Seniors of last year are not so "big" and "bad" after all, but are actually pretty good buddies.

Class rings, the Prom, school dances and assemblies give new experiences to the Juniors. As their school work becomes more difficult, they suddenly find that they are becoming more capable of the responsibilities which are expected of them. Games, parties, dances and dates add to the activities of their third year in St. Mary High School.

All of them, Freshmen, Sophomores, and Juniors, work hard toward the day when they can be called "St. Mary Alumni" -- when Life on Wesley Street will project into their various callings and they will understand the real meaning of all their activities at St. Mary High.

DROPPING IN ON THE UNDERCLASSMEN

HEAVY BOOKS—DEEP STUDY

The industrious atmosphere that is seen throughout the school is twofold in the library. The quiet room and the studious manner make it easy to obtain the knowledge that can be had by reading the various literature that is available. Truth, fiction, autobiographies and history fill the shelves of this room.

If at anytime during the day you were to take a casual walk to the library you would be sure to find at least one student busily searching many books. He is sure to find that one word that could make his life easier by answering the all important question in any-one of the subjects that he may encounter in his four wonderful years at St. Mary High.

Each period you will find students working in the Library. Included are: T. Walters, D. Barton, T. Long, K. Field, J. Margul, J. Kuhl, J. Overmyer, P. Lavey, J. Peters, F. Magiera M. Rich and M. Preston.

Hi Ho

Father Hankerd and Senior Religion students look on as Diane Grandy, acting ■ ■ witness, signs ■ marriage contract.

The Christmas season shows juniors, M. Dombrowski, J. Papemik, M. H. Taraskiewicz, K. Sprague, and G. Waters explaining the Jesse Tree, which symbolizes the prophecies of the Coming of Christ.

Is it impossible to keep the commandments? Is it easier to live a moral life now than in grandmother's day? These questions were debated in junior and senior religion classes this year.

Father Hankerd, Religion IV instructor, has held extemporaneous debates, and discussions on topics of death, vocation and the life of the Blessed Virgin Mary. "Mixed Marriages Are Dangerous," was the theme selected for the term paper and there were "reams" of books, pamphlets and magazines to review. Father announced.

The junior religion class has held drives to show that they practice their religion earnestly: only religious cards were sold in this year's Christmas Card Drive. Room 105 sent baskets of food to poor families in the parish as their special Christmas Drive.

To Heaven

Religion plays a vital part in the life of every student. Freshmen gained their knowledge on the seven sacraments from Father Schmitt. One day each week Sister Rose Helene taught the Freshies about the cardinal and theological virtues. The Sophomores learned the application of the commandments through research in the New Testament booklets they purchased. During the year the Sophomores of 104 we were told of the work of Father Hoffman in Korea, when Mrs. Pangborn visited Sister Mary Michaela's class. Through their studies they gained worth while knowledge of their religion.

Scientists of Tomorrow

J. Anderson seems a little distracted as Mr. Gezich demonstrates an incline plane to Physics students: back row, B. Kirwen, M. Hill, N. Paul, M. Dombrowski; front row, J. Ewers, D. Chmielewski, D. Trudell. (Sitting is T. Long.)

Looking into a crystal ball to see what lies ahead is something that most people aren't able to do. But the General Science class for freshman boys is as good as a crystal ball, for it gives them a glimpse of what lies ahead in sciences they can study later on besides an understanding of their basic principles.

Shrieks from the squeamish and cruel snickers from the heartless emanated from room 104, as the sophs delved into the secrets of Biology and began dissecting their victims. Despite their first apprehensions, they found this class one of the most interesting to date.

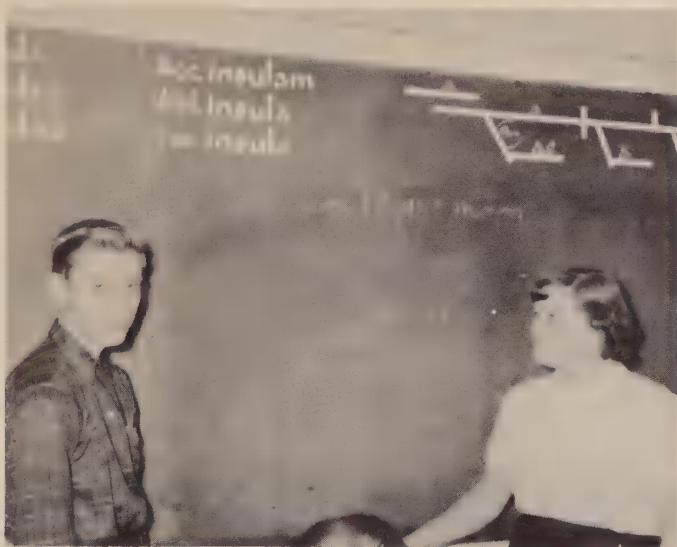

The Physics lab was the scene of many helpful (and hectic) experiments as Juniors and Seniors learned the real 'haps' about such things as light, sound, heat, and air that they had always taken for granted, but never will again.

Geometry's no joke, but Jim Curry seems to have his classmates entertained as he demonstrates a problem at the blackboard.

Armed with rulers, compasses, pencils, erasers, books and protractors, math students of St. Mary's daily begin the chore of learning theorems and solving equations. Algebra I and II and Geometry teach the pupils to think clearly and to solve problems logically, as well as train them for future careers and ambitions.

Solving for x , y , or z , drawing equilateral triangles, and finding the circumference of a circle are just a few of the problems students learn to work out in the math classes on Wesley Street.

T. Shehan, B. Kerwin and M. Haselswerdt are eager to learn the results of an Algebra problem which R. Rutkowski tries to explain.

Prose, Poetry

Panel discussions, oral reading of literature, poetry, short stories, and demonstrations - this makes up the Freshman and Sophomore English classes.

Besides all this the Freshmen learned the proper way to use the library. All of this library research was a preparation for second semester when they were trained for formal debating. Among other things they have memorized prepared speeches such as the Gettysburg Address and the Preamble of the Constitution.

Meanwhile the Sophomores caught up on their literature, reading most of their Prose and Poetry Book, and scads of library books.

and Pandemonium

Lights, Camera, Action! Junior English students are imitating the Shakespearian play "Ghost Patrol" as T. Hockman addresses B. Kurzy. H. Moran, J. Hill and J. Meade make up the rest of the cast, with P. Summers operating the lights, the only stage facilities allowed. P. McDevitt and D. Draper occupy front row seats.

The reading of MACBETH seems to have the Senior English pupils very entranced as Barb Rice, Dennis Trudell, and Joseph Riley concentrate on the slaying of Duncan.

In Junior English chamber plays, performed by the "Junior Theater Guild" has brought enjoyment of the classics. Journalism was added to this class. Cutline, copy, deadline, and dummy sheets were words added to their vocabulary, and an enlightened experience was added to their education.

"Tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow,
Creeps in this petty pace from day to day."

In Senior English MACBETH, the daily spelling tests (privilege is spelled with 2 i's), and the time we had to use 50 specific words in one paragraph, were all part of the fourth and final edition of mastery of our language.

A B C's With

There were no sirens clanging, no whistles blowing, no dogs barking -- it was just a simple day up on the third floor of the Business Department. A day like all other days, except the Candid Camera is looking in on Sister Marie Concepta's Bookkeeping Class. It is interesting to see how they are taught the fundamentals of Bookkeeping and how they learn to be the Business men and women of tomorrow. We take our camera into the Typing II Class taught by Mrs. W. O. Allen, only to be astonished by the quick learning of the students. How, in one day a pupil walks into Typing I knowing nothing about those mixed up keys and then walks out of Typing II as another secretary. From drills, to timings, to a simple letter, to the regular office work of a secretary. A simple day on the third floor of Business is to be remembered when our Catholic men and women of tomorrow will do their part to make this world a good, clean, honest world to live in.

Say, are tests getting enjoyable? By the looks of these students they seem to have skilled their work in Bookkeeping. First row: F. Magiera, J. Whittaker. Second row: J. Riley, S. Draper, C. Gibbons. Third row: P. Waldron, R. Calbert, A. Grandy. Fourth row: P. Karazim and R. M. Cote.

Got it Tim? Representing Typing I, Tim Maloney with Nancy North in the background, practices daily exercises.

Warm up drills are helpful to the typists in their second year. First row: M. H. Pergl, P. Lavey, J. Overmyer, C. Wolfe. Second row: R. M. Cote, J. Rumler, C. Kelly, J. Biel, G. Stark and N. Rumler.

Rhythm and Ease

Sure are crowded! Taking dictation at a rapid speed of 80 words per minute are shorthand I students, ■■ Mrs. Allen, their teacher dictates. (We squeezed for this pix.)

Second year Shorthand students rapidly taking dictation at 120 words a minute. Go man Go!

A B K D E F Gae; No, this isn't phonics, it is First year Shorthand students learning their new sounds and letters.

Shorthand for the juniors is mostly drill and writing. In this way they learn to write and read fluently and accurately.

The second year class is run like a business office. Dictation, transcription and perfection are stressed.

Machine transcription has been added to the second year to enable the students to be of even greater value to their future employers.

Learning Foreign Ways

Spanish I students learn how to count as Sherry Rakowski, John Baginski, and Julie Meade show the result of their work at the board.

Latin I students study Roman customs from tales of ancient Rome.

Spanish señoritas with dark flashing eyes, handsome señores serenading them, laughing children and quaint customs of Spain and Mexico make Spanish I an interesting class. Among conjugating verbs, memorizing new words and learning how to pronounce them is the excitement of a new language. Discovering Spanish people with their customs, dress, foods, traditions, and friendly ways gives the student a deeper knowledge of our dark skinned neighbors.

This year finds the first year Latin students trying to enrich their minds with a knowledge of a foreign language. The time is spent on learning words, and their meanings, the declensions, and when and how they are used.

Via Español

Y Latina

Spanish II pupils practicing for their Christmas play are: Kneeling, R. Bronakowski, and C. Scott; Standing first row: M. Hutchins, K. Martin, F. McDonald, J. Vaughn, G. Groom; (back row) C. Wolfe, J. Best, D. Reardon, R. Fomer, and J. Biel.

Third year Latin and Second year Spanish pupils leave their 'softer' days of 'Salve' and 'Como esta vd.' far behind as they go into work that is much more difficult. They drill, memorize and drill some more, as subjunctives, verb forms, participles and pronouns, plus all the exceptions to the rules, strain their hard-working brains. Twelve Seniors make up the Spanish II class under Sr. Margaret Aquinas. Latin III, taught by Sr. Maria John is composed of six Juniors.

Learning another language is no easy matter, both classes agree. "Difficile est!" (This is rough!) a Latin student might say, and any Spanish student would surely agree 'como mil flores! (And how!)

Why's and Where's of Tom Maino exhibits slide films of famous scenes of Europe to the World History class. This is a painless way of learning but you'd never know it by these grim faces.

Today and Yesterday

Depicting colonial school days are (front row) Ken Knutson, Katie Martin, Cherie Scott; (back row) Marg Davis, Barb Rice, and Jerry McDonald. This was a project for Education Week sponsored by American History, second period.

World History students learn not only about the State, but also about the Church. Therefore it is really two classes in one. In American History, students learn of the development of our nation and the relation to the world.

Problems of Democracy, a senior course in existence for two years is rated by the students as a valuable subject.

The class is intended to broaden the students outlook on social life and daily living. This is not only a course in Government but involves the individual, school, Church and society.

The class has also embarked upon some interesting projects this year. Some of the extra activities which were included in this class were discussions of current problems and writing essays on privative and free enterprise for the businessman for the SENIOR SCHOLASTIC.

Skills and Frills

Displaying their domestic talents are Freshmen Nancy Kasprzycka, Joyce Server, Victoria Waldron and Mary Beth Beres.

Future homemakers of tomorrow industriously apply themselves to learning the skills necessary for a woman's chief career--that of being a good wife and mother.

Many a 'goof' is made as they try their hands at the various domestic arts. What started as a skirt comes out as a hanky and what would be cakes are eaten with spoons like pudding. It's all in the line of learning and very enlightening. Maybe mom doesn't have it made in the shade, after all.

Mechanical drawing students, under Sr. John Therese, work skillfully on intricate plates, and learn what it means to be really 'exact.' Though this class is usually composed only of boys, this year two girls invaded the masculine ranks. With this feminine talent at work, the day of the frilly, flowery mechanical drawing plate may soon be here.

Meet the Press

Typewriters clicking and voices murmuring are the sounds which are heard coming from the press room, as the Publications Class begins another day's work. These sounds are heard not only during school hours, but often long after the dismissal bell has rung, and the school is dark and quiet. This quiet, unified work produces commotion, as eager students grab for their copy of the MARINER, or clamor for the first look at the finished ASTROLABE, their yearbook.

After all the worry of missing deadlines, correcting copy, and getting editions out on time, comes a deep sigh of relief, and a smile of satisfaction.

As the year comes to an end, Members of the Publications Class go out with their yearbooks, capturing all the memories of their life on Wesley Street, tucked under their arms.

SODALITY

Gaity and laughter reigned as Celts left the straight and narrow path of school work, and detoured to roads of recreation and leisure. Various school organizations and activities provided outlets for pent-up spirit and vitality. There were CSMC and sodality which gave opportunities for working together in catholic action; Choir and Glee Club which exhibited Celt talent; fun at the dances put on by ambitious Juniors and Seniors; and that dance of dances-the Junior-Senior Prom. Pep meetings, games, forensics, May Crowning and those crazy parties where boppers flourished, and the "Bells of St. Mary's" sometimes managed to drown out Elvis--all these bring memories never-to-be-forgotten of fun and friends and our life at St. Mary.

For many years the servers of St. Mary's have made an impression on the people of the parish. Assisting the bishop in the administration of Confirmation last October, on ceremony for Forth Hours, liturgical days in Holy Week, the new Lenten evening Mass inaugurated this year, and the earliest Sunday Mass in the city at 5:45, are some of the more important church services at which high school servers appeared. Daily Mass, evening devotions, funerals and weddings round out their appointments.

The approximately 20 servers consider their duties an honor. Precision in movements on the altar and correct recitation of the Latin they attempt to improve each year.

Meriting a total of 1,000 points for keeping appointments entitles a server to a pin or guard to be awarded at honors day ceremonies. Although points are given for serving, the main purpose is to honor and glorify God. Their moderator is Sister Mary Alberta.

Choir Robed for Nativity Carols

Besides singing at the 8 o'clock Mass weekdays and the 9 o'clock Mass Sundays, the St. Mary Choir has taken part in a great many other extra curricula activities.

The Choir, under the direction of Sister Mary Sheila, made their first public appearance this school year in their scenic red caps and white gowns at the Christmas Eve Mass at midnight. The Choir went to the YWCA to sing for the Golden Age group in their annual St. Patrick's day program.

In March they visited Lansing Sexton High and sang in the Choral Festival with nine other diocesan schools in a 1,000 voice chorus.

While rehearsing for visiting engagements the Choir often entertains our own school at many assemblies.

Students from the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grades blend their voices in song to form the Mixed Glee Club. Under the direction of Sister Mary Sheila the Glee Club meets twice a week. Through practice, effort, and a desire to sing, even five-part harmony is achieved in many songs. Popular, patriotic, and semi-classical songs from well-known plays are but a few of the varied songs and choruses.

The Glee Club performed at a November program in honor of St. Cecilia and in the Spring Concert. Selections for the Spring Concert included songs from the Broadway musicals, "The King and I" and "My Fair Lady."

Marion Preston is president; Gail Groom, vice-president; Margie Graham, secretary and Rose Marie Cote, treasurer. Accompanists are Judy Cavanaugh and Catherine Smisko.

Officers are President Mary Beth Beres, Vice-president Ortwin Retzler,

Treasurer Russell De May. Mary Beth Beres and Margaret Bielanski accompany the Glee Club.

"America My Heritage"-Helen Steel, "Little David Play On Your Harp"-a negro spiritual, "On Top Of Old Smoky"-Kentucky Mountain song, and "With a Heigh, and a Hi and Ho, Ho, Ho."-V. Mizzy, were selections sung in the Spring Concert.

Pep Club

Outside of rolled up sleeves, dangling hair, red-faces scattered bobby pins, stepped on shoes, hoarse voices, and lost purses, the Pep Club is also well known around ol' S.M.H., for their true-blue pep, spirit, enthusiasm, and good sportsmanship, not to mention that they form the backbone of the cheering section and sometimes the team.

In 1952, Sister Myra organized the Pep Club with its main purpose of leading their St. Mary team on to victory.

With chartered buses, pep meetings, decorated halls, and lost voices, the Pep Club has tried to make it what it is supposed to be. Sister Maria John is now the moderator of the Pep Club.

Debate and Forensics

Interpretative readings, cuttings from plays, humorous and oratorical declamations, original oratory, extemporaneous speeches are types of speaking which the forensic class engage in during the second semester.

Each student taking part, as well as the instructor, had to postpone after-school activities to study dramatics.

Local eliminations of dramatic readings were held in February. The forensic manager at Ann Arbor assigned the time for district eliminations which were held at the close of the month.

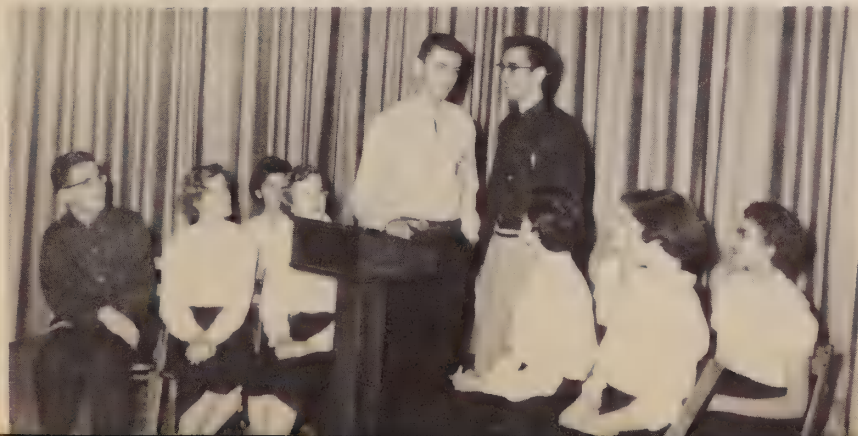

"Holding down" the position of moderator, teacher, critic, and all-around aid was Sister Catherine Miriam.

Members of the Debate team participated in three debates, during the year resulting in a split decision at each appearance.

Sodality

Mary Beth Beres, Sharon Playford, vice-prefect, Janet Navarre, treasurer and Sonia Joyce, are modeling clothes for the style show that was sponsored by Elaine Shop; Miss Margaret Ryder acted as consultant.

To be Christ like, and to try to teach ones friends the same is the purpose of the Sodality organized by Sister John Therese in the fall of 1956 in honor on the Blessed Virgin Mary.

The Sodalists duties are morning prayers, daily Mass, Communion, rosary, and night prayers.

Apostolic work plays a big part in the Sodality organization. Visiting the sick and poor are just a few of the activities.

Featured in March was a Fashion Show of spring apparel for girls. The Sodalists' idea is to show teens how easy it is to dress attractively, yet modestly. The money raised will send officers to the SSCA (Summer School of Catholic Action).

Decorating a rose trellis for the style show are, Sandy Lutz, secretary, Tom Tappendon, Mary Margaret Haselschwerdt, prefect and Tom Wilson.

Solemnly, all members of the high school assembled in the gym February 7, 1957 to witness the installation of St. Mary CSMC officers and to pledge their faith and assistance.

The officers, sworn in by Sister Rose Helene, were Jack Ewers, president; Ronald Loeher, vice-president; Ellen McGuire, secretary and Sarah Scott, treasurer. Jack Ewers accept the student body into the organization. Led by their representatives, the students took their pledge. After their profession they walked in procession to the church for Benediction.

Sister Marie Concepta, the moderator, stated, "In taking this promise we are joining with millions of students throughout the world who are helping to bring Christ to all the world by fulfilling their motto 'The Sacred Heart for the World, the World for the Sacred Heart'".

Activities this year included: supporting a seminarian through collections; conducting study club units; supplying prisoners with Catholic literature and contributing medical supplies to a Maryknoll missionary in Korea.

Over Dances

Previous to the St. John game the senior girls sold votes in order to choose one of the senior football players as "Mr. Touchdown," King of the Duffy Jug Dance, held November 4. Gail Groom, Sandi Arnst, and Wendy Hawkins made it possible for Jim DiVietri to receive this honor. this honor. Dan Trudell came in second with Cherie Scott as his campaign manager.

Astrolabe Queen Phyllis Lavey and her attendants, Carole Kelly and Gail Groom, relive the crowning which took place at the Royal Whirl, on January 24.

Raising money to pay for producing a yearbook is a difficult job. This money is raised by selling advertising space in the yearbook to Jackson businessmen. The selling is done by members of the Publication Class. Phyllis Lavey earned the title of "Astrolabe Queen" by selling the most ads for the annual. Phyllis sold $797 of ad space; Gail Groom, $519; and Carole Kelly, $320. The crowning took place at the Royal Whirl, a dance held in the honor of Phyllis and her attendants.

Watching the festival program are Queen Mary Pierce and King Dan Trudell, the reigning monarchs of the celebration.

Mardi Gras

Star Hall, transformed into the city of New Orleans, was the scene of the "Mardi Gras". Prizes, refreshments, card games, and seeing old friends made the festival a success.

Prom Features Oriental Theme

The biggest social event of the year for the Juniors and Seniors, the Prom, took place shortly after Easter, on April 24.

An Oriental Garden provided the setting for the couples who danced to the music of the Don-Ray Orchestra.

At this annual Junior-Senior affair, Wendy Hawkins was crowned Prom Queen, and Katie Martin and Gail Groom were her attendants.

The dinner-dance lasted from 7:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. and climaxed a year of planning and preparation by the Juniors.

Martha Rich Crowns the Blessed Mother

The annual May crowning ceremony took place Sunday, May 25, with Martha Rich crowning the statue of the Blessed Mother. Attendants were Rose Marie Cote and Margaret Graham. The girls were chosen by popular vote of the senior class.

On these sidewalks and down these halls walked the heroes of our day-the charging football star, the tall basketball man, the golf and baseball enthusiast.

Season records have differed greatly during the years since sports found their way into the Celt way of life, but the one stable element is spirit; spirit that has always been an uplifting force in the Celt whether winning or losing. We are proud of our athletes here at St. Mary, but first and foremost, we are proud of the courage, enthusiasm, loyalty, and teamwork which will always mark them as Celts.

ATHLETICS

Coaches

As head football coach the last eighteen years except 1951, Ed Cimock has produced three unbeaten, untied All-State teams. He accomplished this in 1946, 1953, and 1954. Not only does he instill the skills of the sport of football, starting out with the simplest fundamentals to turning the boys into a team with precision, but infuses the will to win and good sportsmanship in the minds of our athletes. Looked up to by the athletes of St. Mary as a leader, Ed is considered by many one of the best prep coaches in the state of Michigan. Although not always producing a winning team Ed educates the mind, body, and moral character of the boys he coaches.

Besides coaching Ed is married and father of three children. When not coaching or working at his insurance business, he may be found out on the golf course. Ed shoots in the low 80's.

Coach Ed Cimock and 'Chic' Young watch anxiously as the Celts complete long aerial during the Battle Creek St. Philip game.

Graduating from St. Mary in 1947 James (Chic) Young left behind an impressive sports record. An all-state center on the basketball team he played on the undefeated 1946 football squad. He attended St. Norbert's College where he engaged in five sports: football, basketball, baseball, hockey, and track. After graduating he served with the army in Korea with the 3rd Infantry Division for two years. Employed in the Loan Department of the National Bank of Jackson where he started in 1953, he has been coaching Celt teams since then.

As assistant coach in football and basketball Young sees a bright future for the Celt teams in the next few years. Led by Tim Maloney, Dennis Buckles, Pat McDevitt, John Rumler, Jim Margul, and Casey Blair, the '57 football season, Young feels will be improved greatly over the '56 season.

It looks a little crowded for Don Chmielewski (23). R. D. Watson (8), Jim DiVietri (16), and Dan Trudell (19) attempt to shake him loose.

Celts' Climb

Battle Creek St. Philip

Opening the S.M.C.H. schedule the Celts faced powerful Battle Creek, St. Phillip. Watson uncorked a touchdown pass to Maloney, DiVietri plunged 9 yards and Chmielewski streaked 9 to paydirt. Despite Celts 20 points the Tiger's power frustrated St. Mary 51-20.

Monroe C.C.

In the opening game of the '56 football season played at Withington Stadium, the Celts after a hard fought battle yielded in the second half to Monroe Catholic Central, 13-0.

Detroit Austin

St. Mary's next foe took them to Detroit Austin. A pass from Watson to Buckles and a 10-yard sprint by DiVietri put the Celts ahead 13-7. But Austin's Ranchillio, a fullback, battered the desperate Celt line in second half. Final score, Austin 28-13.

Lansing St. Mary

Facing another S.M.C.L. contender the Celts traveled to Lansing St. Mary on a Staurday night. Although the Celts played one of their best defensive games, they suffered a 20-7 defeat.

Interrupted

Kalamazoo St. Augustine

Still looking for their first victory of the season, St. Mary entertained Kalamazoo St. Augustine in the Celts' homecoming game. The Celt offensive game was not at par and was held to two touchdowns by Chmielewski and DiVietri. The Irish emerged from the game with a 34-13 victory.

A big pile-up but Jerry Smith (38) dives from the 2. Delamater (41), Chmielewski (23), and Di Vietri (6) of St. Mary look on. Crowley (28) Dwyer (55), and Tom Smith (26) of St. John await the referees decision.

East Jackson

Underdogs, St. Mary Celts displayed an explosive offensive game against East Jackson to win 25 to 14. DiVietri raced 56 yards on 2nd play of the game to score. Knutson crashed over from the 2. Chmielewski drove from the 4 and Ewers plunged over for the final score. Celts had 372 yards rushing compared to E.J.'s 122, and 21 first down to the Trojans 12.

St. John

The annual St. John-St. Mary, game provided loads of thrills for spectators. On the second play of the game, Watson flipped a screen pass to DiVietri who raced 60 yards behind a wall of blockers. With 10 seconds before intermission Watson found Knutson in the end zone. Celts led 13-12. The second half proved the Gaels just too powerful. Led by Jerry Smith and Jim Dwyer they copped the city parochial crown, 31-13. St. Mary captain Dan Trudell, playing one of his best games, was sparkling on defense.

Fighting for Watson's pinpoint pass are Tim Maloney, big Celt end and an unidentified Monroe defensive back.

Sandy Chosen Queen for First Homecoming Game

It was a perfect fall day! Junior Sandra Cyrocki, queen of the first homecoming game, could vouch for it. The sun shone brightly overhead and a warm breeze whistled softly through the trees. On that day, October 13, she and Steve Vanderveen reigned over the St. Mary-St. Augustine game. With attendant, junior Sharon Playford, the trio lead a procession of Pep Club members and officers to the stadium where Sandra was officially crowned during the half. St. Mary students participated in a contest before the event in which these three students came out on top, thus attaining their honors.

Celts Tie '45-'46 Record

"Hill's open--No, screen for Bill--hit the drag shot--pull the big goon out of the pivot, Jim--get position--now, nice an' easy, with the fingertips."

The crowd roars and the radio announcer shrieks above the bedlam that the Celts just scored again to tie the game. But if the spectators could listen into the mind of a player instead of the voice of the commentator, they would hear the confusing jargon shown above. These are the players -- this was the game. In the locker room after the three "Hail Marys" for thanksgiving, everything breaks loose--throwing water, snapping towels, jerseys wet with sweat and tight so that they require help to peel them off. The hot water burns into their back and washes out the throb in the muscles of the weary, but jubilant, players. The team won! The world is in their hands!

Then, someone says, "Boy, I sure hope we can knock off Lansing St. Mary Thursday!" Another player answers, "If we use a 3-2 offensive we ought to be able to screen all night." And so it is. There is little time for jubilation. There's always the "big" one next week to think about.

Round the court with the first string are Dan Reardon, Jim Best, Bill Kirwen, Pat McDevitt, and Tim Maloney.

Leaders of Our Victorious Celts

Chick Young

Benny Coffman, Varsity basketball coach at St. Mary, has been a member of the Celt family since 1949 when he joined the coaching staff in capacity of reserve basketball coach. The following year he took over the Varsity squad and since that time has produced many fine teams. Employed at the Goodyear Tire Company, Benny devotes the whole of his spare time to his beloved sport. He has long been recognized in sports circles around Jackson. He starred for Jackson High School during his school days, and later played basketball in local industrial leagues where he starred at guard position although slight of stature.

Benny Coffman

To loyal Celts 'Chic' Young needs no introduction. Attending high school at St. Mary Chic was an outstanding athlete, and starred both on the gridiron and on the court. With Chic playing the pivot, the Celts reached the quarter-finals of the State Class C Tournament. Employed at the Jackson National Bank, Chic finds time to coach the reserve basketball and football teams, and builds the stars who grace the Varsity squad.

CAGERS CUT-DOWN

East Jackson

St. Mary closed out 1956 with a win over East Jackson, in their final victory of the year. Reardon was high with 13. This game equaled a 7-0 record set by the 1945-46 Celt team.

Kalamazoo St. Augustine

Jan. 4, the Celts returned to action only to have their winning streak snapped by a tall Kalamazoo St. Augustine team 51-42. Mike Hill scored SM tops of 17.

Parma

Four days later the Celts returned to encounter the Parma Panthers. Taking a commanding 18-6 lead in the opening minutes, the Mariners were never headed as they won 47-39.

St. John's

St. John Gaels proved rough opposition for the Celts in their first meeting. After playing to a 53-53 deadlock beyond regulation time, the Celts poured in 6 points in the overtime to beat the hard-charging Gaels, 59-53.

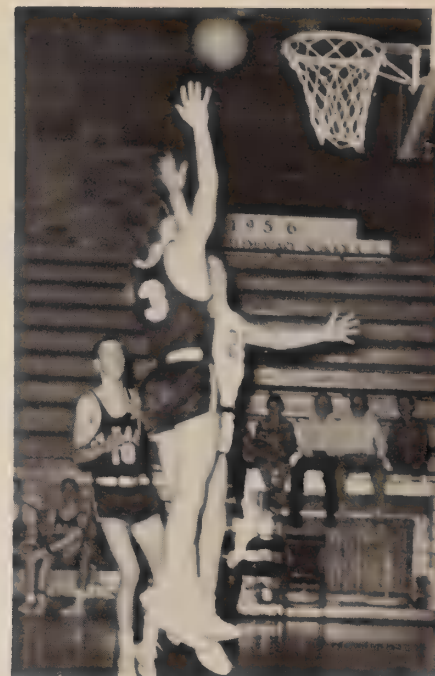

Battlecreek St. Philip

Riding merrily along on the crest of a 9-1 record, the heavily favored Celts were jolted as the B.C. St. Philip Tigers tripped them 58-54. Reardon was high with 27.

Lansing St. Mary

Out to avenge an earlier defeat, Lansing St. Mary came to town. With Rick Barrett leading the way with 34 points they outpointed the Celts 62-55. Mike Hill paced the Celts, throwing in 18 points.

This jump proved to be fatal as we fell for the first time to Kalamazoo St. Augustine. Dan Reardon (6) goes up against Joe Locey.

O-o-h, almost to the top, but not quite! Pat McDevitt tries for a basket in the last few minutes of the Parma game, with Jim Best (10) waiting for the re-bound.

Kalamazoo St. Augustine

Their third setback in a row was handed to St. Mary cagers by Kalamazoo St. Augustine. Dan Reardon's 18 points were not enough to keep the Celts from falling 63-60.

Class C Competitors

Center Dan Reardon appears in a jovial mood. The Celts have racked up another victory.

Parma

November 30, the Celts launched their basketball campaign by tripping Parma, Cascades Champions, 47-41. Dan Reardon led the Celts with 22 points.

Hanover

Utilizing a fast break, the Celts knocked off Hanover of the Cascades League by a 57-37 count. Kenny Knutson was high with 15.

Battlecreek St. Philip

Friday, Dec. 7, Battle Creek St. Philip was the first SMCL victim of the Celts, who quickly disposed of the Tigers 51-38. Mike Hill with 16 led the attack.

Vandercook High

St. Mary's ball-hawking little men again turned to the Cascades League, Dec. 11, and defeated Vandercook High 48-46. Reardon tallied high with 14.

Lansing St. Mary

Leading his teammates with 25 points Dan Reardon hooked the winning shot in the last three seconds to hand Lansing St. Mary a 54-53 defeat, its first in five years on the Blues court.

Coldwater St. Charles

Jubilant Celts journeyed to Coldwater St. Charles, Dec. 18. They met strong opposition, but won with a late rally 61-48. Reardon racked up 15 as high point man.

Mike Hill (4) is on the wrong side to block this shot as Krugman (35) of Parma goes in for a layup. No. 32 Dave Southwell is getting ready for rebound. Dan Reardon (6) arrived too late to block this one.

Coached by Chick Young the reserve basketballers are well trained for future varsity performance. Passing drills, play patterns and training pack each practice session. Not only do these cagers learn the fundamentals of basketball, but the reserves cultivate sportsmanship so that they may represent St. Mary successfully when they advance to varsity status.

Bill McEnroe, Ortwin Retzler, Don North, Dennis O'Connor, and Keith Blair are said to be the starting varsity in a couple of years, according to their coach.

Cheerleaders

"Coach! Team! Pep! Steam! Yea team!" After regular classes have ended the sound of eight girlish voices floats down from the gym and echoes thru the empty hall. The cheerleaders are at work patching up flaws in old cheers and putting finishing touches on new ones. Watch out for flying tennis shoes as the girls experiment with cartwheels and split jumps. It's hard work but they love every minute of it.

Game time finds them radiating pep, whether in sleet and mud on the football field or in the hot, crowded basketball gym. Boom-boom, Victory, T-clap, Extra! As they lead each cheer, their contagious spirit and enthusiasm spreads to each fan in the bleachers.

Probably no one outside of the coach and team, feels as sad about a loss or as happy over a victory. Game after game, in joy or in tears, our cheerleaders, Wendy, Katie, and Gail, Julie and Carole, Pat, Joy and Linda have cheered their lungs out and prayed their hearts out for their heroes and St. Mary.

"Let's Raise the Roof!" Senior cheerleaders Gail Groom, Katie Martin and Wendy Hawkins perfect another cheer to teach the fans at the game.

Celt Standouts Have Diamond Daze

"Strike Three" yells the ump as Bill Kerwin releases his curve ball.

"It's a great sport," stated Harry Scott as he told of his plans for this year's baseball team. Led by fireballers Dan Reardon and Bill Kirwen the Celt team had another fine season. Guarding the baseliner were Dan Reardon, first base; Jack Fitzpatrick, second base; James Vaughn, shortstop, and sharing the third base spot with Vince Comito and John Rumler. Dan Riley and Tom Scott divided the job of reigning over homeplate. Starting in the outfield positions were Dan Trudell, Pat McDevitt and Denny Lodise. Chief replacements for these were John Baginski and John Whittaker.

Coaching St. Mary 12 years since 1940, Scott has developed many fine teams. Experience from his own playing days has helped him lead the Celts successfully. He played high school ball followed by semi-pro ball for Fort Wayne, Battle Creek, and Little Rock of the Cotton States League.

At one time he had a trial with the Chicago White Sox. Scott can point out Tom Murphy, Art Morrissey, Paul Switala and Frank Giordano as the greats he has coached at St. Mary.

Besides coaching he is the father of four children, three boys and one girl, and works the second shift at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co.

Our Golf Champs

On the fairways and on the greens our golf team in recent years has been unbeatable. In the last three years the team has won three league titles and three state championships. Again this year we were successful in overcoming most of our foes. Leading the squad were Mike Hill, who paced the team last year, and Jim Best both seniors. The third man in the starting foursome was Matt Betley, a member of the reserve squad last year. Vying for the fourth spot were Sophomore Tom Turney and Freshman John Kurzynowski.

Coach Ed Cimock, quite a golfer in his own right, has directed the team for about ten years. Helping the boys correct mistakes in their swings or stances, giving pointers on how to improve their game, or just consoling them after a bad shot makes Ed in our estimation the best prep golf coach in the state.

HIGHER PATHS

Our life on Wesley Street has drawn to a close. The fun we've had going to dances, playing all the sports, losing our voices at football games, cramming for exams, dating, the prom and hundreds of other memories will not be forgotten.

Our work, play, tears, prayers and laughter have made St. Mary part of us and made us part of St. Mary. The advantages of being taught Christ's teachings will guide our lives and bring us strength and courage in the future.

This is a typical dance on a typical Friday night. Step, step, slide is a favorite promenade around the gym.

Hoarse voices and red faces gave others a clue that the football season was in full swing. As we walked through the gates of Withington Stadium, echoes rang out cheering on our team. Sandy Cyrocki, our first homecoming queen, cheered too at the inaugural of the St. A.--St. Mary Homecoming Game.

Graduation day is a thing of the past. We're on our own at last! And yet it's rather sad. Sad because of the memories it brings. Come with us into this past year, and you too can meet our friends, our school, and its spirit--our Life on Wesley Street.

"What class is this? What did you say your name is again?" These questions were asked by students and new Faculty members alike as confusion reigned during the first week of school.

When new hairdo's and "sharp" haircuts came into view, we knew that the camera bug had struck. At the same time, anxious juniors longed for the day of ordering class rings. Representatives from different companies came. Juniors unanimously agreed to deal with the company that had been serving the school for many years, and orders were in.

In November, an old but still exciting event occurred when the Celts met the Gaels at the annual football clash to decide which school would gain possession of the coveted Duffy Jug. Although the Celts lost their beloved jug that day, they never for one moment lost their spirit.

With the Celts

Our first dance, "Freshie Frolic," was given for the purpose of getting to know our new recruits--and we did. Following weeks were spent visiting relatives and friends with our friendly greeting, "Would you like to buy some Christmas Cards or Wrappings?" These words were on our lips constantly through the weeks of our annual Christmas card drive.

A typical ceremony honoring the Blessed Virgin Mary is the May Crowning, the Seniors standing

On Wesley Street

Stories come from many sources. That includes our school with its halls, ringing of bells, change of classes, and the gym--with its basketball practice, dances, and assembles. Songs like "Be-bop-a-lu-la," "Young Love," and "Jim Dandy" have come and gone with our dances. Jim DiVietri was crowned Mr. Touchdown; Phyllis Lavey, ASTROLABE Queen; David Binsack and Ann McBurney, King and Queen of Hearts.

On the altar steps witnessed their last church festivity before graduating.

These young Celts express their enthusiasm as they await the traditional Duffy jug clash.

Basketball started with a boom-seven straight victories. The games continued but not as successfully as before. Still they held excitement for the Celts who faithfully followed their team.

A wonderful, super-doooper MARINER and a "ginger peachy," out-of-this-world ASTROLABE are what the Publications Class was striving for when Staff members slaved in the press room over cutlines, headlines, and deadlines.

Another after school project was held daily in the library-jug sessions. Talking in traffic or study and tardiness at any time were some of the qualifications for entrance to jug.

Learning the tricks of the press trade was accomplished through classes in the course and conferences at U. of M., Mt. Pleasant, and Marquette U. During our three-day stay in Milwaukee we attended meetings, movies, dances, and tried various restaurants. Journalism wasn't always just work, as the sophomores found when they attended a conference at Ann Arbor in May.

Looking back we can remember Prom night with its Queen Wendy Hawkins and her court-Katie Martin and Gail Groom, and we can recall watching Martha Rich crown the Blessed Virgin's statue in our Church, with the help of Margie Grahm and Rose Marie Cote; we have not forgotten Dan Trudell and Mary Pierce reigning over the Mardi Gras, in Star Hall, February 17.

Now with heads held high we walk into the future leaving behind our Life on Wesley Street.

Staff

Four p.m., five p.m., and still the lights in the Press room are shining brightly, while stories are revised, outlines are re-written, and the headline count adds up to a miserable 24 1/2 instead of the 24 units required. This is the Publications class's extra curricular labor so that the students may enjoy the school newspaper and yearbook.

It is hard to explain the feeling experienced by the staff members as the new edition of the MARINER is ready for students' eagle eyes. Another thrill enjoyed as a result of their hard work is to see their own story in the JACKSON CITIZEN PATRIOT. Each week news is compiled and edited and on Wednesday is collected by Mrs. Barnes, a CITIZEN PAT editor of school news. The day in June when the ASTROLABE is presented to the school, not only are the new owners happy over seeing the story of the school year, but the staff members also can look at it and say, "This is the result of many days of hard work and headaches, but worth every moment spent on it."

A one-day convention at Mt. Pleasant was the first press meet attended by five of the staff members as Juniors last spring. This convention was sponsored by the American Yearbook Co. for the purpose of initiating students into the know how of editing a yearbook.

A short course in the development of both yearbook and newspaper drew five more staff members to the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor in August.

The next convention is one that was looked forward to for months. This was held for three days in Milwaukee. Eighteen members of the Senior class and two Juniors not only learned valuable information, but also had a time that will be remembered for years to come.

The last convention, May 10, for the M.I.P.A. was held at Ann Arbor. The Sophomores attended this meeting.

Life on Wesley street and life on Michigan Avenue are dependent upon another in many respects. Students and graduates employed by local industries and business concerns aim for honesty, integrity, and leadership which is instilled in Celts by the teachers at Saint Mary's.

Without your full cooperation our '57 ASTROLABE would not be possible. Thank you, Advertisers.

High school years are happy years for most boys and girls. In addition to work and study, the many social activities, sports events and the thrill of graduation account for pleasant memories that last all through life. But there's one person in this picture who is generally overlooked, and it isn't until the student starts to make his way in the world that he fully appreciates how much his teacher or instructors meant to him. School teachers are mighty important people. Teachers more than any other group have the greatest responsibility for building strong characters and molding the ideals of good citizenship among today's boys and girls . . . our leaders tomorrow.

Reddy Kilowatt, your electric servant, wishes you and your teachers every success in your future undertakings.
